➤ GENERAL

Sound and Silence For the next two months the cathedral is a collaborative partner in a research project about Sound and Silence in the Ecology of the Cathedral, which is being run and funded by the University of Bristol. Its researchers are investigating how people experience and respond to sound and silence in the Cathedral, whether they are part of the Cathedral community or visiting the building for the first time. Interested and want to be involved? Leave your thoughts on the Sound & Silence sheets at the back of the cathedral, email the team on bristolsoundsilence@gmail.com, visit their website - ecologyofthecathedral.com - or tweet the project @sounds_silences.

Combatting food poverty in the city In the school holidays some children are without enough food and suffer from holiday hunger. St Luke's Church in Barton Hill are responding by providing free hot meals during half terms and holidays. They rely heavily on food donations to feed the children at the lunch club and with an increase of children attending it is more of an issue than ever before. A food wish list is up in the Cathedral Café, along with a donation point.

Verger Vacancy A vacancy in our verger department will arise from September. If you or anyone you know might feel a calling to this form of servant ministry within the church, and possess energy and enthusiasm, we would love to hear from you. Please email kerry.vernon@bristol-cathedral.co.uk for more information.
